-Rusty the Fox Squirrel

Still Rusty the Fox Squirrel journexed on He had many adventures, but the life of any of the little folks of the Green Meadows and the Creen Forest is very largely made up of adventures. They have them every day. So it last Rusty came to a country where the nut crop ! ad not failed. It was many, many miles from Farmer Brown's and Rusty had been very many days making the journey. But as he feasted on hickory nuts, beechnuts and acorns, But as he feasted on he decided that the journey had been worth white,

"Now," said he talking to himself, for he had no one cise to talk to, "I must find a place to live. At least, I must find a comtertable bed. I think I shall stay here. This looks to me like a very good land. I imagine there are some very nice people living hereabouts, I hope I shall find as nice neighbors as 1 left back in the Green Forest by Guiding Your Child left back in the Green Forest by Farmer Brown's,"

Having eaten all the nuts he could hold, Rusty set about explor-ing in quest of a home. After a long search, he found a tree that was hollow and had a nice entrance fairly high from the ground. He first made quite certain that there he ventured in. There was a bed fair chance of becoming a happy of dry leaves. It wasn't much of a self-reliant fellow at all. bed, but it was a bed.
